String of Blue Ribbons.
Every exhibitor and every horse entered for the show, with one or two exceptions, is already here. The exceptions will be here to-day, being already on the way. Messrs. Breese & West have their stable here, including eight or ten fine harness horses, which have a string of blue ribbons to attest their worthiness. Mr. West, an old favorite here, who has shown horses at every Richmond show since the initial exhibition in 1901, will handle the reins over their teams. Mr. David Dunlop, of Petersburg, is here with some of the finest harness horses in this State. He is at the Jefferson, and stated to a reporter last night that his leaders for life four will arrive from New York to-night, having purchased there a month ago. These are three of the largest out-of-town exhibitors in the harness classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Courland H. Smith, of Alexandria, who were at the shows of 1901, 1902, and 1903, are here again with the largest number and highest standard of show horses ever exhibited here. All his horses are hunters, and they have won a string of ribbons that stretches across the entrance to the stall. Many of these horses are famous here, and others have won fame and money since the 1902 show, when Mr. Smith was last here. Mr. R. M. Taylor has high jumper, Gray Rock, here in charge of Mr. T. H. Jenifer, who rode him last year, and will pilot him over the jumps again this year. Mr. Taylor himself is expected to-day.

Mr. C. C. West, of Breese & West, and Mr. and Mrs. Breese are at the Jefferson, with Charles R. Hood, Jr., of Alexandria, who has three hunters here which have won ribbons at all the great horse shows of the country, and have just arrived from Lynchburg, where they added to their laurels. Mrs. Blair Johnson has a pair of fine saddlers, including Robin Adair, champion of 1902.

Well Known People.
Mr. Sidney J. Holloway and his sister, Miss Marian Holloway, of Hartsdale, N. Y., two favorites of last year's show, are here with half a dozen hunters, including Mrs. A. E. Dietrich's jumper, Buck, bred by Mr. H. C. Beattie, of this city. Mr. Holloway will ride Free Lance, Thoroate, and others in the hunter classes, and Miss Holloway will ride several in the ladies' classes.

Mrs. Allan Potts has four saddlers and hunters here, including Brilliant, her fine saddle, Spindler, and several other horses which have won blues all over the southern circuit of shows.

Dr. L. S. Ricketts, Mr. H. O. Lyne, Mr. H. W. Spratley, Roger Brothers, S. C. Byers, W. W. Osborne, W. W. Payne, of Alexandria; Travers Daniel, of Culpeper; D. F. Coleman, of Fredericksburg; Dr. C. Shirley Carter, of Warrenton; Miss Carter, S. H. Ellerson, of Staunton; S. C. Byers, of Burkettown; Hon. Alexander Hamilton, of Petersburg, and many other out-of-town exhibitors have their horses here, and others will be here to-day. The Jefferson, which seems to be the headquarters of the horse show exhibitors and judges, is rapidly filling up, and there is plenty of horse talk in the lobbies. Mr. Richard Wallace, of Warrenton, and Mr. John D. Hoot, one of the judges, were among last night's arrivals. Mr. C. E. Raley and wife, of Lexington, Ky., have been at the Jefferson several days. He is one of the judges of harness horses. Lieutenant John C. Montgomery, of the Seventh Cavalry, is also at the Jefferson. Mr. J. P. Evans is here also, and will ride at the show, as is Mr. T. C. R. Jenifer, of Maryland.

All the boxes with the exception of several desirable ones in the balcony on the south side of the building have been sold, and these are being held for persons desiring to give box parties for single nights.

Large Sale of Seats.
The sale of seats was unusually large yesterday, the ticket office putting in a busy day. More than a thousand reserved seats tickets were sold, most of them for to-night's performance. The office of the association and the box sheet for reservation of seats is at No. 80 East Main Street, in charge of Mr. W. H. Tomlinson. It will be kept open until about 6 P. M. each day, after which the reservation sheet will be taken to the Horse Show building. Prices are $1.50 for first three rows, and one dollar each for seats in the remaining rows. Seats may be reserved at any time for any evening of the show.

The camp of the cavalrymen, situated in the field just east of the amphitheatre, was visited by thousands Sunday and almost as many turned out to see the mounted soldiers yesterday. The platoon, numbering twenty-four men, occupy six conical tents, which are pitched on the field convenient to the building. One of the tents is used as a camp kitchen. Every movement of the cavalrymen was watched with close interest by the crowds on Sunday, even the prospect of cooking supper being watched with interest. There are twenty-four men in the platoon, under command of Lieutenant John C. Montgomery, of Troop C, now stationed at Chickamauga. Eighteen men will participate in the maneuvers in the ring to-night. The exhibition consists of barrel racing, mounting and dismounting, vaulting, Roman riding, standing, throwing horses, forming pyramids and taking jumps. Besides this there will be drill

HOTELS FILLING UP.

Horse Show Visitors and Doctors Will Make Lobbies Lively.

Hotel arrivals were numerous yesterday, and all the hotels are gradually filling up for the Horse Show and the meeting of the Medical Society, both of which will continue practically all the week. Some of the better known among yesterday's arrivals:

The Jefferson—Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Purviance, John V. Gillaspay, J. Ridgway Kelly, Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hoot, Virginia; Richard Wallace, Warrenton; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Taylor, Appomattox; Mr. C. Stout, Baltimore; Dr. Louis F. Hoot, Staunton; Richard Wallace, Philadelphia; Victor Gallagher, Belfast, Ireland; H. A. Fiske and wife, Hartford; David Dunlop, Petersburg; C. E. Posthale, Pittsburg; Walter H. Robertson, Lynchburg; J. C. Cassell and wife and son, Roanoke; Colonel Benham Cameron, North Carolina; C. C. West, Pasadena, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Breese, Baltimore; Lieutenant John C. Montgomery, Seventh United States Cavalry; Henry W. Carpenter, California; M. C. C. E. Raley and wife, Lexington, Ky.; Charles R. Hood, Jr., Alexandria; Miss Marian Holloway, E. J. Holloway, Hartsdale, N. Y.; J. J. Hamilton, Mrs. Courland H. Smith, Alexandria.

Among the well known Virginians registered at the Jefferson are: T. Nottingham, Chesapeake; Mrs. C. F. Bugg and Miss Hettie Bugg, Farmville, Va.; W. F. Clark, Chase City; E. H. Hitecock, Jr., Charlottesville; Mr. and Mrs. H. Schwartz, Emporia; R. H. Boatwright, Lynchburg; C. Harding, Roanoke; C. S. Jones, Robert F. Allison, J. L. Smith, Culpeper; F. C. Moon, Lynchburg; M. F. Clark and B. J. Wyser, Russell county; M. G. Robinson, Austinville; R. W. Saunders, Max Meadows; E. E. Nelson, Staunton; Will J. Golding, Bedford; J. L. Phillips, Blacksburg.

Among those at the Richmond are: W. W. McGuffin, of Sewell, W. Va., formerly of Staunton; V. J. General J. W. St. Clair, West Virginia; J. W. Montague, of Norfolk; J. L. Swindell, Portsmouth; George B. McClellan and Hon. Alfred P. Thom, Norfolk; A. O'Daniel, Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Watson, Portsmouth; R. H. White, Virginia; C. E. Norvell, Charlotte county; R. H. Sims, Powellton, Va.; Mrs. F. A. Woodward, Mrs. Graham Venable, for all, and that there will be no delay. Besides the regular service of the Main Street, Broad Street and Clay Street lines, all of which will be run daily, there are ambulance, thirty and even forty cars if needed will be put on to catch the overflow. If the forty cars are needed they will be put on in

TO CARRY THE CROWDS.

Street Railway Company Promises Ample Accommodations.

Superintendent C. B. Buchanan, of the Virginia Passenger and Power Company, yesterday stated that the company was prepared to handle the big crowds to and from the Horse Show building this week. Special preparations have been made to provide ample rolling stock, and the indications are that there will be cars sufficient for all, and that there will be no delay. Besides the regular service of the Main Street, Broad Street and Clay Street lines, all of which will be run daily, there are ambulance, thirty and even forty cars if needed will be put on to catch the overflow. If the forty cars are needed they will be put on in

OUTSIDERS CANNOT TELL THE WINNING HORSES.

In bygone years there has invariably been misunderstanding on the part of the audience at the Horse Show as to the decisions of the judges in the various classes. There have been times mingled with applause, and there have been times without any sound of applause. The crowd has imagined that their favorites have been unjustly dealt with, and offensive epithets have been applied to the gentlemen who awarded the decision. Probably ninety-nine times out of the hundred the decisions of the judges are just, and the verdict of the populace at fault. Those outside of the ring cannot possibly determine the result, no matter how much they may know of horses. The best horseman in the land cannot sit in a box or stand at the ringside and judge as intelligently as can the man in the ring. He cannot know whether or not the harness horse is going true and even. He cannot know if the horse and trap are properly appointed, and, most important of all, he cannot pass upon the horse's soundness or unsoundness. No honest sportsman should insult the judge, especially if the judges are the best and most honest to be gotten together.

Good Men for Judges.

The Richmond Horse Show Association are fortunate in their choice of judges for the show beginning to-night. Not only are these gentlemen beyond reproach as far as honesty of opinion is concerned, but each of them is an authority upon the class of horse he is to judge.

Mr. Reginald W. Rives is probably the best amateur whip in the country, and his work with the Pioneer Coach for the past three seasons has led to his selection as judge at all the big shows at New York, Louisville, Newport, Philadelphia, Boston, and in fact, at every show of importance in this country. Mr. Harrison Kanier, of Philadelphia, another but less well known, is a judge of harness horses, and his judgment is greatly valued in that section, which is, above all others in the State, the horse country. From the far, horse country, Mr. Trumbull Cary, a hard rider to hounds, the owner of a great stable of hunters. This gentleman is eminently qualified to judge anything that will seek honors in the hunter and jumping class. The public can feel assured that there will be fair play for every one and justice in each award.

How Judging Is Done.

Now, a word about how classes are judged; and let us begin with the harness class. A horse comes into the ring and the crowd goes wild. He steps high and looks like a king, and we all feel as if he cannot fail to win the decision. Let us stop a moment to see if the horse is properly harnessed, and if he is driven before a proper vehicle. If such is not the case, then out he goes, and the judges have done their duty. Again, let us look, with the judges, at this grand looking horse, and probably we will find that he has a curb or a spavin, or a bad splint, or some other blemish, and then—good-bye to the blue.

Mr. Charles Elmer Raley will judge

park hacks alone. In Kentucky the champion park hacks are known as "the Raley type," from the fact that Mr. Raley and his father, Colonel Raley, before him have been the acknowledged authority on park hacks in the Blue Grass region. No man in this country is better able to pass upon park hacks than is Mr. Raley, and there can be no doubt but that the best horse he can get his decision.

Well Known Hunting Men.

The hunter and jumping judges are as well known hunting men as can be found in this country or Canada. Hon. Adam Beck, M. P. of Canada, is considered the best judge in the Dominion. Some years ago, when Mrs. Vanderbilt married the Duke of Marlborough, Mr. Vanderbilt was present, the best hunter on this side of the water. It was from Mr. Beck that the horse was purchased, and the price was a long one. Mr. Beck is also an authority on hounds, and will judge this class for the association.

Mr. John D. Hoot, of Warrenton, is a man who has given years to the study of horses. He is at home on top of a horse, and his judgment is greatly valued in that section, which is, above all others in the State, the horse country. From the far, horse country, Mr. Trumbull Cary, a hard rider to hounds, the owner of a great stable of hunters. This gentleman is eminently qualified to judge anything that will seek honors in the hunter and jumping class. The public can feel assured that there will be fair play for every one and justice in each award.

The Hunt Teams.

Just a word about hunt teams. Most of us look upon the class as a study in scarlet in the ring. All the horses and riders look very much alike from the ringside, and we therefore determine that the best jumping team should win. This is not so. Often the team making the very worst performance wins the class, for appointments and conformation count more than the jumping. The judges have to look the fit of the plink coat, the cut of the breeches, the fit of the boots, the shape of the spurs—all these they count. The very buckles on the bridle and the keep of the bit help to decide the award, and I have known the judges appearance of a birth to change the position of the ribbons.

In a word, we have honest judges, who know their business thoroughly, and we can well afford to rely on the judgment they give out during the coming week.

charge of extra men. For the benefit of suburban residents along the foot of the Barton Heights and Chestnut Hill routes, the last cars will not leave Broad and First and Broad and Seventh Street until 12:20 A. M. Unless there appears a necessity for these late cars, the last car will leave the junction points at Broad Street at midnight.

Mysterious Assault.

SALISBURY, N. C., Oct. 17.—Mr. J. R. Roberts, a merchant of East Spencer, was found in a semi-conscious condition in his store at an early hour yesterday morning with a dangerous wound in the back of the head, which was bleeding profusely. The affair is a mystery, and Mr. Roberts is yet unable to throw any light on the subject. Falling to return to his home at about midnight Saturday night, his usual time for closing, members of his family sent to the store about three o'clock only to find him wallowing in blood and unconscious. It is reported here that he was clubbed and shot, though this cannot be confirmed. It is now thought that the wounded man will recover.

AT THE THEATRES

The production at the Bijou this week has in its chorus nine girls as pretty as any that have smiled and danced before a Richmond audience this season, and the girl under the red hat, the fluted, whether she is Daisy, Flossy, Ethel, or whoever she may be, is a stage beauty.

The chorus, as to looks, surpasses that of the Bijou Musical Comedy Company, the girls of which were considered as top-liners when that organization was in existence. Without this chorus the performance would be nothing; with it, the performance is everything.

Of course Joseph Hart is splendid as Goodbye Goodman, and Carrie De Mar, as Polly Bright, is bright and piquant enough to live up to the name of the character she plays. The two grandsons, Jack Sidney and Bobby Harrington, are full of life and have fairly good voices.

Harry Ackerman, as the bell-boy, was all right, only he laughed like Oles Harlan once or twice in the first act, and called up unpleasant memories when that comedian bored Richmond audiences. But the women of the company make the real hit, and the men are but side issues.

Tom Fortune and Carrie De Mar spoiled their travesty work in the second act by forgetting that they had an audience in front of them, and playing to, as well as with, each other. The audience doesn't enjoy that sort of business. The two performers mentioned were there to entertain the audience, and not each other, and naturally an audience resenting being compelled to look on as a third party, not in the game.

Chip and Mary Marble.
Hamlin and Mitchell's superb company, playing "Babes in Toyland," Glen M. Donough and Victor Herbert's musical comedy, which has eclipsed everything of a similar nature written in years, will be the attraction of the night.

Mr. "Duck" Little is exploiting "The Ship Girl," which will play at the Bijou all next week. He is one of the best known advance men on this circuit, and has a fine record. Dave Kline's, He, too, is at Campbell's.

Large Crowd Attending.
The remains of James Boyle, who was shot by Calvin H. Moore several days ago, were given a funeral yesterday afternoon at 2 P. M. from the residence of Mrs. W. J. McDonald, sister of the dead man. The service was held at the residence of Mrs. J. C. Moore, brother of the dead man. There was a large attendance of friends of the two families.

POLICE BOARD FOR OUTSIDE MAN

Reliably Reported That Seven
Do Not Favor Captain
Hulce's Re-Election.

As the election of chief of police approaches, interest is centered in the probable action of the board, the members of which were detailed by the board last July to act as chief until the 1st of January, or for six months.

The position was left open for all comers, who had aspirations at that time, and it is certain that there will be several names mentioned when the election is held at the December meeting. Among those who have been mentioned by their friends as good men for the place are Captain Kerse, Captain Whitlock, Sergeant Matthews, and Clerk George Pollock, of the board. In addition to these names, the names of two citizens, outside the police department have been mentioned.

Acting Chief Hulce is a candidate for the position. He feels that his work so far has been acceptable to the public and the board, and he points with pride to his record, since he has had charge of the department.

When Captain Hulce was chosen to fill the position, the board did not place itself on record as pledging itself to maintain that support when the election came up in December. Captain Hulce was placed on trial. The first thing that confronted him was the shooting of Inspector Shilberger. He turned loose all his energy, and with the aid of the police force, each man of whom felt it his duty to keep constantly on duty, the negro murderer was arrested.

There is no certainty, however, of the election of Captain Hulce.

The board is divided, and unless there is a change in opinion before the election, the chances for Captain Hulce are slim, and those for some one outside the department are bright. At present, a majority of the board favor a new man for chief. Captain Hulce has larger influence with business and professional men, and he has had many years' experience in the police department. He expects this to stand him in good stead, when the time comes for the election.

There will be one more meeting of the Police Board before the meeting at which the chief is to be elected, and it is quite likely that the various members will be called upon show their hands at the meeting.

"COFFEE DOESN'T HURT ME."
Tales That are Told.

"I was one of the kind who wouldn't believe that coffee was hurting me," says a New York woman. "You just couldn't convince me its use was connected with the heart and stomach trouble I suffered from most all of the time. My trouble finally got so bad I had to live on milk and eat almost entirely for three or four years. Still I loved the coffee and wouldn't believe it could do such damage."

"What I needed was to quit coffee and take nourishment in such form my stomach could digest it. I had read so much about Postum, the cereal coffee, but never thought it would fit my case until one day I decided to quit coffee and give it a trial and make sure about it. So I got a package and carefully followed the directions."

"Soon I found I began to get better and was able to eat carefully selected foods without the aid of pills or other aids, and it was not long before I was really a new woman physically."

"Now I am healthy, hearty and sound; I can eat anything and everything that comes along, and I know this wonderful change is all due to my having quit coffee and got the big quantity of nourishment I needed through this delicious Postum in place of coffee. The reward is big, and there's a reason."
